Rudin Management selected Plaza Construction for the renovation of the lobby at 55 Broad Street in the Manhattan financial district. The Architect Fogarty Finger created a space that merges the elegance of Statuario Caldia® marble - supplied by the MGI Group - and a modern design characterized by smooth classic walls combined with wavy elements. The light-dark contrast is dominant, further underlined by the edge profiles. The precious and unmistakable Caldia® is the choice thanks to the extreme purity of its crystalline white, able to light up the room with an unparalleled brightness, amplified by the reflecting ceiling. The project features a renewed attention to entrance areas where hospitality and safety are the key criteria. An enchanting interpretation that welcomes tenants and visitors into a space that is both new and timeless.
