First Canadian Place is a 72-story commercial office tower with a 2-story podium, and is an icon building within the downtown Toronto business district; it is Canada's tallest skyscraper and the 15th in North America. The revitalization process, which started in 2010 and was completed in 2012, included the tower, the podium and the renovation of the interior lobby.

Approximately 5,000 m² of polished Statuario Caldia® marble were installed, 3,500 m² for the interior panels, stone clad security desks and stone clad doors while 1,500 m² were used as exterior panels.
